WHAT FIRE PREVENTION MEANS TO YOU

The coming of Fire Prevention Week, which will be observed between October 6 and 12, makes it worthwhile to meditate on what fire prevention means to you as an individual, a taxpayer, a homeowner and a worker.

Fire prevention saves lives—yours and your loved ones. Thousands of people are now cremated each year—because someone was careless.

Fire prevention is the friend of the home. Without it, your home may be turned to ashes—and insurance can never replace the many intangible values each home represents. Money cannot compensate for everything.

Fire prevention tends to keep taxes down. Each time a fire destroys taxpaying property, thus removing it from the tax rolls, higher taxes must be paid by all other property within the community.

Fire prevention keeps insurance rates down. Over a period of years, the rate for each locality is based upon fire loss—many fires mean high rates.

Fire prevention is the friend of employment. When a fire destroys a business, jobs are lost, and thousands of dollars in purchasing power is lost with them. Untold privation and misery can result.

Fire prevention means progressive towns and cities. Cases are on record where a single fire, destroying a town's main industry, has resulted in permanent retrogression, at the expense of property and all other values in the community.

Prevent fire—and save lives and money. Do your part during Fire Prevention Week.

AGRICULTURE AND INDUSTRY ARE INTERDEPENDENT

In a recent address, Governor Lehman of New York, said: "We have been accustomed to think of agriculture and of industry as distinct fields of commercial effort—as things widely apart—having very little if any relationship to each other. We talk of agriculture alone, or industry alone, of commerce alone. That has always seemed to me the wrong point of view. The time is long past when any part of the producing or consuming groups of our economic structure can fail to affect all other groups. The consumption of farm products . . . is influenced almost exclusively by the needs of a consuming population, and these needs are obviously inevitably controlled by earning and spending power of the public.

"Out of this there must come to all of us, it seems to me, whether interested in city business or in farm business, an appreciation of the need for a balanced development between business and agriculture."

Agriculture is now doing a fine work in achieving that balanced development through farmer-owned and controlled cooperative associations. These associations are improving farm production methods—they are scientifically adjusting supply to demand—and they are helping bring about a sounder relation between the wholesale and retail prices of farm produce.

HITTING THE LITTLE FELLOW

Tax laws designed to punish big business, under the guise of revenue producing measures, may wreak their principal damage on little business and on the little fellow—the wage-earner, the small investor, the white-collar worker.

In addition, they may make it impossible for the little business and the little fellow ever to go ahead—to progress, to prosper, to grow.

A recent editorial in the Los Angeles Times said: "This is a 'big' country accustomed to doing things in a 'big' way. To dwarf such a heritage would be in truth to return us to the horse and buggy days. To go forward, to explore, to investigate, to experiment, to attain the heights by trial and error is expensive but necessary to human progress.

"The small, poorly financed business or individual is often an initial stepping stone to great things. The poor man becomes rich; the small business grows and one day is a 'big business' boasting a worth-while heritage of accomplishment. There has been incentive all along the line.

"It may be wrong, but success, business success at least, is predicated upon financial independence. To rule that the small and struggling shall never grow big and aggressive is to knock the props out from under our national habit and set us back a century."

It seems that the whole aim of politically-minded persons today is to punish, to discourage and to prevent success, to dwarf achievement, to stifle initiative, to throttle ambition, to poison the springs of enterprise. We raise our taxes on "business" to the point where a man or a corporation, once it gets beyond the size of a corner grocery, is just working for the tax collector. We pass regulatory laws giving political job holders, not executives and stockholders, the final say as to business practices and operations.

Whether this represents fascism, communism, socialism or any other "ism," it is directly opposed to every American tradition. And it is a threat to the future of every principle for which our forefathers fought.

148 YEARS OF CONSTITUTIONAL LIBERTY

On September 17, the Constitution of the United States was 148 years old. Observation of Constitution Day has focused public attention on that great document—and on the dangers that are now besetting it.

It is no exaggeration to say that Constitutional rights and privileges are menaced—that political experimentation with theories of alien origin are usually the direct antithesis of the American scheme of government—and that many of the politicians who pay lip service to the Constitution in high-sounding speeches, are among the leaders of those who emasculate it.

Some are urging that a Constitutional Amendment be passed whereby Congress and the President would be given vastly broader powers than they now possess—in spite of the fact that such an amendment would very possibly make the Bill of Rights meaningless. Others advocate a law depriving the Supreme Court of its right to pass on the constitutionality of legislation—even though that would eliminate the principal reason for the very existence of the Court, and make it no different from lower tribunals. Still others are urging new judicial "interpretations" of Constitutional provisions whereby the original meaning would be warped. And there are those who think it feasible to circumvent the Constitution, by political chicanery whereby laws can be kept away from a Supreme Court decision for a long period of time, until their unconstitutional ends have been attained.

It is inevitable that changes in the Constitution will weaken it—that the protecting arm it now holds out over human rights, property rights and the individual liberties and prerogatives will be made less strong. No document has withstood the vicissitudes of a changing century and a half so well—none has so completely achieved the purposes of free, democratic government. The Constitution is the very soul of America—without it, we would be no different from those other nations whose people are now feeling the mailed fist of dictators, at the expense of freedom of the press, freedom of action, freedom to live, think and speak as one wishes.

REGIMENTING THE SPUD

The humble spud has become the latest target for the bureaucrat.

Under a law passed by the last Congress, the Irish potato is to have its turn in so-called crop control. Growers who produce more than five bushels a year must submit to the stringent licensing system—and if they produce more than their quota, a heavy fine may be levied against them. Opposition arguments, based on the fact that the spud is an eccentric sort of animal, whose productivity is almost impossible to control, have no avail.

The new law did not have Administration support, and seems to be regarded coldly by Secretary Wallace. It was put through by zealots who feel that nature should be regimented as thoroughly as possible.

However, it is encouraging to report that various groups, led by well-known men, have announced defiance, to such a liberty-destroying law—and have challenged its enforcement. The pioneer spirit, which detests any kind of dictatorship, is not yet dead and demands the right to eat spuds without political supervision.

21-Month-Old Linguist

Able to Use 400 Words

Monessen, Pa.—A chubby little brown-haired Monessen girl, not yet turned two, can use correctly 400 words, her mother disclosed.

What is more, twenty-one month-old Elise Capuano knows the Italian equivalent of most of the 400 words her mother secretly listed as Elise chatted at play during the past seven days.

Mrs. John Capuano, whose husband is widely known in Pennsylvania Italian-American quarters, began the list of words when she noticed in a newspaper the picture of a twenty-three-month-old girl who amazed Stanford university psychologists with her 500-word vocabulary.

Elise was timid about displaying her vocabulary for reporters, however. She hung her head and grinned sheepishly, but willingly showed them her Shirley Temple book and explained what the child movie star was doing in each of the picture. When she went in an adjoining room with only her parents present, however, she chatted gaily in well-formed sentences, with only slight traces of "baby talk."

Mrs. Capuano explained that Elise uses English in speaking to her parents. When addressing her grandparents, however, she uses her more limited Italian vocabulary. Both Capuano and his wife are native Americans.

Despite Elise's large vocabulary, her parents said they did not consider her a "prodigy" because she showed little interest in other fields in which prodigies usually are brilliant.

Buffalo Bull Invades

Barnyard in Washington

Kennewick, Wash.—Shades of Deadwood Bill. Farmers in the Rattlesnake hills region west of here rubbed their eyes when a buffalo bull appeared in the barnyard of James Mann.

Apparently quite tame, the animal stayed long enough to have a meal of hay then wandered to the next farm. Ranchers believe the buffalo escaped from a farm at Yakima, 100 miles away, where the beasts are reared commercially.

Where Women Are Larger

In some races of mankind the female is the taller and heavier sex. There is a tribe or two in Africa in which the average height of the women exceeds that of the men, and a group in Russia in which nearly every wife outweighs her husband.—Collier's Weekly.

Football

Wilmot was defeated by Walworth 6-0 at Walworth Friday afternoon.

Sultry weather and a soggy field slowed up the play considerably. The teams were fairly well matched in running plays which finally netted them a touchdown in the early part of the fourth period. Wilmot's chief offensive threat was via the air. Five of the ten passes were completed for substantial gains. Nice runs were made by Nelson and Kowalik. Wilmot threatened early in the third quarter when Beaster ran back a punt to the Walworth 28 yard line. They failed to gain, however, and in attempting to place a kick Kowalik kicked straight to the side lines and Wilmot was on defensive thereafter.

Next game will be with Rochester at Wilmot on next Friday afternoon.

Millions of Meteors

It is estimated that millions of meteors enter the earth's atmosphere every 24 hours; most of them are very small. They travel, however, at a high rate of speed, and were it not for the protection afforded by the earth's atmosphere they might prove a serious menace. Because of the terrific speed at which they move, according to a writer in the Washington Star, meteors are heated to incandescence by the resistance and friction of the air and all but a few of exceptionally large size are completely dissipated. Very large meteors, or meteorites, as they are called if they fall to the earth's surface, occasionally cause death.

William Tell Story Liked

Whether the accounts of the heroic deeds of William Tell be based on actual facts or mere tradition, it is a story which is still read and retold with enthusiasm in every Swiss school and every Swiss home. A dignified monument to the gallant archer of Burglen, near Altdorf, stands in the latter village, but the most beautiful of all tributes to this pioneer champion of Swiss liberty is to be found at Tell's Platte, between Brunnen and Fluelen, on the spot where Tell leaped ashore from the boat in which he was being carried off as a prisoner by Gessler.

City of Leontopolis

The city of Leontopolis was an ancient city in the Delta of Egypt. The name is also a later designation for Nicopolis, a fortified town of Mesopotamia, on the Euphrates.

"Millstone" coins or those with holes in the middle rank with "nife" and "spade" coins as the oldest in existence from ancient Chinese times. C.

Canada Boasts Waterfall
With Drop of 1,500 Feet

Vancouver, B. C.—British Columbia may lay claim to having the highest waterfall in the world.

The fall lies 13 miles northwest of the Great Central lake. Here there is an enormous rock formation over which Della falls drops a distance of 1,500 feet, according to provincial geographical figures. The falls are almost ten times as high as the world famous Niagara falls and nearly four times as high as Victoria falls in Africa.

The Della falls are not easily accessible, but it is understood they are to be exploited as one of the province's tourist attractions.

Relic 120 Years Old

Okmulgee, Okla.—A valuable Masonic relic is owned by J. M. Warren here. It is a Masonic apron, hand-made 120 years ago in Memphis, Tenn.

"Dead Man's Shadow"
Legend Still Exists

Langsville, Ohio.—The strange legend of the "Dead Man's Shadow" continues to exist here despite scoffing skeptics. Unbelievers have only to look upon the weird evidence—and doubt invariably assails them, believers in the tale assert.

According to the legend, a stranger walking along a highway near here was struck and killed by a speeding automobile several years ago. His body was placed on a concrete sidewalk near the scene of the accident pending arrival of an ambulance.

When the body was removed, a vague shadow of the exact proportions of the victim remained, legend has it.

Some time later, workmen poured a thick layer of additional concrete over that particular section of the sidewalk. It is said.

But the shadow reappeared, so say the superstitious.

Trim Zoo Animals' Toenails

Animals of zoo exhibits have to have their toenails cut, the reason being that they do not get enough exercise to keep the nails sufficiently worn down, and if the nail or claw were allowed to grow it would in time turn inward and lacerate the flesh. This operation is rarely an easy task for the keepers, but it is part of their daily work and must be done.

Weekly Calendar

Rally Day and Promotion Day will be observed by the Methodist Church School next Sunday, September 29, beginning at 9:30 A. M. Dr. Percy R. Hayward says, "Rally Day is a symbol of Human Life." Life has its high and low periods, its periods of despair and likewise its times of inner renewal, and spiritual exaltation, and high resolution. It is the purpose of Rally Day to touch the scattered interests of those who have been on vacations, reminding them that the church and its teaching ministry again call them to their spiritual duties and obligations. Help us observe the day by attending services next Sunday morning.

Walter W. Head, prominent business man of New York, President of the Boy Scout Organization of America, and now chairman of the National Committee for Religion and Welfare Recovery, in a statement issued from the Committee's New York headquarters concerning Loyalty Days, which will be observed all over the country on October 5th and 6th, in an attempt to enlist all of America's 62,035,688 church members in active service for organized religion in the coming year said, "The deepest need of America today is for a method of convincing our citizens that character is the keystone of our twentieth century state." And in his talk Monday night to the Antioch Men's Civic Club, the speaker, James Stiles, Jr., Vice President of Abbott's Laboratories, said that the task that lies ahead of us today that is of greatest importance is to give the average man encouragement and revitalize his hope and faith. In other words give him more backbone.

The observance of Loyalty Days, October 5th and 6th, is planned with that in mind.

Use Loyalty stamps on your correspondence, put Loyalty stickers on your car windows or the windows of your home, invite your friends to go to church with you and help us keep the motto or slogan of the program, "Every Member Present or Accounted For."

The Golden Text was, "We are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God" (II Cor. 5:20).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson Sermon were the following from the Bible: "Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us. Looking unto Jesus the author and finisher of our faith; who for the joy that was set before him endured the cross, despising the shame, and is set down at the right hand of the throne of God" (Hebrews 12:1-2).

The Lesson Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "If Truth is overcoming error in your daily walk and conversation, you can finally say, 'I have fought a good fight. I have kept the faith,' because you are a better man. This is having our part in the at-one-ment with Truth and Love" (p. 21).

AMUSEMENTS

JACK BENNY SEES NEW DEVELOPMENT IN SCREEN SHOWS

Greater interchange of stars between talking screen and radio is to the next great development in the field of entertainment, according to Jack Benny, famous radio star who returned to the screen for the starring role in "Broadway Melody of 1936," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's musical extravaganza which opens a four day engagement starting at 11 p. m., Saturday at the Kenosha Theatre.

"When the screen first started to draw on radio for stars," he says, "the experiment was not a success, because the right methods were not employed. Radio performers were put on the screen in the same characters and with the same ideas they used on the air. In other words, they brought nothing to the screen but their radio names. And it takes more than that."

"Screen players who came to radio to broadcast dramatic sketches first showed the radio star what to do in pictures. The success on the air of Frank Morgan, Wallace Beery, Lionel Barrymore and others can be traced to the fact that they departed from their screen characters and went into revisions of standard stage plays. They thus presented themselves to radio audiences as actors, playing characters, entirely aside from anything that they had to do with their work in pictures. In other words, they proved that they could qualify as entertainers in each medium."

"I believe this interchange of stars is to be a great thing for both radio and pictures. And, personally, I welcome the chance to work in both because of the better perspective it affords in both jobs," concludes Benny.

Eleanor Powell, Robert Taylor, June Knight, Una Merkel, Sid Silvers, Frances Langford, Harry Stockwell, Nick Long Jr., Buddy and Vilma Ebsen and Robert Wildhack are also to be seen in the music directed by Roy Del Ruth.

Mrs. William Grube, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Lubkeman and Fred Lubkeman returned home Monday from a two weeks visit with relatives and friends at Hampton, Colter and Latimer, Iowa.

ANCIENT SKULL IS FOUND IN NEBRASKA

Said to Prove Antiquity of Man in America.

Washington.—The "second cousins" of the famous Neanderthal men—those half-ape, half-human beings that preceded mankind in Europe—once may have roamed the Nebraska plains.

After an exhaustive study of an Indian skull fragment found in the midwest state, Dr. Alex Hrdlicka, curator of physical anthropology of the Smithsonian Institution, said it had decided Neanderthal characteristics, although obviously of fairly recent origin.

The fragment was discovered by Earl H. Bell of the University of Nebraska while excavating in a large mound of undetermined age near the site of a prehistoric Indian village.

The skull fragment coupled with the recently found Folsom arrowhead points proves conclusively that the American before Columbus extended back for thousands if not tens of thousands of years. The Folsom points are distinctly American in character and date from the early glacial periods approximately the same time as that of the skull fragment.

Doctor Hrdlicka found that the skull fragment had belonged to a middle-aged male Indian and was normal except in one abnormality. It had large bony ridges over the eyes, one of the prominent characteristics of the true Neanderthal skull and those of great apes. These ridges have virtually degenerated in modern mankind.

In the Nebraska Indian skull the ridges were pronounced and about half as prominent as those of the Neanderthal as compared with modern man, the anthropologist said.

Doctor Hrdlicka stressed that the skull did not indicate that Neanderthal men actually lived in America, but rather that there was some sort of ancestral connection between prehistoric Americans and Neanderthals somewhere outside America.

"We are justified in regarding such occurrences as reminiscences, more or less, of early stages in the evolution of the human skull, but not as uninterrupted connections and especially not as a safe index of the antiquity of the specimens that show such characters," Doctor Hrdlicka wrote in a report on the skull for the American Journal of Physical Anthropology.

UNEARTH ANCIENT CAPITAL IN SYRIA

Uncover Noteworthy Art Dating Back to 1100 B. C.

Chicago.—Discovery of the ruins of a local capital of the Syrian-Hittite world that flourished from 1100 B. C. to the invasion of Alexander the Great in the Fourth century B. C., was announced by the Oriental Institute of the University of Chicago.

Dr. C. W. McEwan, field director of the Institute's Syrian expedition, who recently returned to this country, reported the discovery. A royal palace already has been uncovered in the mound of north Syria, about midway between Alexandretta and Aleppo.

The most interesting angle found at the diggings was that of a double-lion column base—two crouching lions whose backs supported a column at the entrance to the palace. Dr. McEwan said it is one of the finest examples of Hittite art yet found.

"The Syrian-Hittite culture was a composite of Hittite, Aramean, Phoenician and Assyrian elements," Dr. McEwan said. "The discovery of a capital of this people will bring new light to bear on a most interesting period."

According to Dr. McEwan, a native foreman of the expedition which has been excavating two other mounds in the vicinity, was riding into Antioch, 25 miles away, when he noticed two carefully cut blocks of basalt in the deep ditch beside the road.

He recognized these as important clues. When members of the expedition investigated, they found huge column bases of a type characteristic of royal buildings of the late Hittite period.

It then was discovered that natives of a nearby little village had been digging into the mound for the ancient burned bricks which the natives used in repairing their highways.

Vienna Sees Joke in American "Shorts" War

Vienna.—The whole controversy about "shorts" for men in England and America causes a merry laugh in Austria.

A pair of shorts, one of linen for midsummer and one of deer skin for cooler days, are and have been an essential part of an Austrian male's wardrobe for years.

It's nothing unusual to see a pair of uncovered legs sauntering down one of Vienna's principal boulevards. Nobody stares, nobody laughs; it's taken for granted you can wear shorts in town if you wish.

In the country on Sundays 80 per cent of the men wear leather or linen shorts, an open shirt, and no hat. The man who wears more is stared at.

Perhaps it's only honest to say that shorts are a sort of national Austrian costume for men. They originated in the mountainous Tyrol, where the peasants wore deer skin shorts before they knew pants or trousers existed.

When the Austrian man goes swimming he wears a lot less than enough to get him arrested in the States. He has long ago abandoned the simple trunks (once considered very daring in the United States) and wears only a loin cloth. Ten yards away he seems stark naked. There is considerable mixed bathing in the Danube, but the police discourage it. But it's often hard for the police to distinguish whether the bathers are naked or not.

The Book of Sports

The Book of Sports was a popular name for the proclamation issued in 1618 by James I, and ordered to be read in all churches, wherein it was declared that dancing, archery, May games, morrice-dances, leaping, vaulting and other such games were lawful on Sunday, but prohibiting bear-baiting, bowling and interludes.

"Ethiopia" From Greek

The name Ethiopia is from the Greek, meaning land of the burnt-face people. From earliest times it was used by classical Greek writers to refer to all lands inhabited by dark-skinned people. Abyssinia is derived from the Arabic word "Habasha," meaning confusion and has come to connote monstrosity.

"The Alhambra"

"The Alhambra," by Washington Irving, grew out of the experiences and studies of Irving while an actual resident in the old royal palace of the Moors at Granada. Many of the sketches have their foundation only in the author's fancy, but others are veritable history.

Derivation of Word "Puny"

The word "puny" is a phonetic spelling of the old French "pulsne," which entered the English language in legal phraseology. "Pulsne" meant junior, lower in rank. "Puny" has acquired the meaning of small in strength or size, weak, feeble.

Power of "Hen and Chickens"

Hens and Chickens, the old-fashioned plant known as Houseleek, was once thought to possess the power to ward off lightning.

Nicknames

Jerry is a nickname for Gerald. Usually it is a nickname for Jeremiah, and when used as a nickname for Gerald, it is spelled Jerry.

Salads Give Zest to the Menu

Newer knowledge of nutrition has added much to the enjoyment of luncheons and dinners by bringing salads to the fore.

One needs so little to make a salad—that is, you can make a salad out of almost anything—as simple or as elaborate as you like.

Salads, for the most part, appeal both to the eye and the appetite.

Cottage Cheese Salad
1 pound cottage cheese
4 tablespoons mayonnaise
1 bunch button radishes
1 medium sized cucumber
1 bunch green onions
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
Paprika
½ cup salted almonds
Lettuce

Cream cheese and add Mayonnaise. Slice radishes without paring them. Pare cucumber and dice. Use the white and tender green portion of the onions, peel, and cut in slices. Toss the vegetables lightly to mix them. Add the seasonings and the vegetable mixture to the cheese. Chill thoroughly and serve on crisp leaves of lettuce; sprinkle with paprika and garnish with salted almonds.

Luncheon Salad
Lettuce
American cheese
2 hard cooked eggs
Radishes
Cream cheese
Minced parsley
French dressing

Arrange beds of lettuce on salad plate and cover with radish roses. Make small balls of both yellow and cream cheese. Dip the latter in minced parsley and arrange on salad. Dice a border of hard cooked eggs around the edge and serve with French dressing.

Cherry Jewel-Jell Salad
1 package cherry Jewel-Jell
2 cups cherry juice
1 cup canned dark red pitted cherries

3 tablespoons mayonnaise
½ cup pecan halves
½ pint whipping cream.

Dissolve cherry Jewel-Jell in 1 cup hot cherry juice and add 1 cup of the cold cherry juice. When this has reached the syrupy stage add remaining ingredients. Pour into mold and chill. Serve with whipped cream to which mayonnaise has been added.

Deviled Egg Salad
6 hard-cooked eggs
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
4 olives, chopped
12 pecan meats, chopped
2 small sour pickles
1½ tablespoons chili sauce
2 tablespoons vinegar
¼ teaspoon salt
Endive.

Cut eggs in half lengthwise, remove yolks and mash well. Add remaining ingredients and blend. Refill cavities. Serve on crisp endive with mayonnaise.

Wilted Lettuce
6 strips bacon
¼ lb. leaf lettuce or 1 medium sized head lettuce
½ cup minced onion or ¼ bunch green onions
¼ cup vinegar
Salt

Wash and cut lettuce into small pieces in a salad bowl. Fry bacon until crisp and cut it into salad bowl. Add onion. Season with salt. Add vinegar and hot bacon fat and heat. Pour over ingredients and toss lightly. Serve at once.

Fresh Spinach Salad
6 cups small tender leaves of spinach
1½ cups homemade French dressing

1 pint tomato
1 hard cooked egg
Pick over the fresh spinach, sorting out the small tender leaves. Break off any thick stems. Wash, dry in towel. Let it stand for 10 minutes in French dressing. Serve on salad plates garnished with strips of tomato and a slice of hard cooked egg.

Calavo and Lime Jewel-Jell Salad
1 pkg. lime Jello
2 cups water
¾ cup diced cucumber
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 medium sized calavo
Juice of one lemon
¼ cup small cocktail onions cut in halves
½ cup stuffed green olives cut into halves
Lettuce
Mayonnaise.

Dissolve Jello in 1 cup hot water and add 1 cup cold water; cool. Soak cucumber in salt and vinegar. Cut calavo into halves lengthwise, remove seed, peel, cut into cubes and sprinkle with salt and lemon juice. When Jell begins to thicken add remaining ingredients, which have been drained, and mix lightly. Pour into mold. Unmold, slice and serve with mayonnaise on lettuce garnished salad plates.

Asparagus Salad
Arrange a nest of endive on a salad plate. In the center place a bundle of asparagus tips. Top with a spoonful of mayonnaise and garnish with strips of pimiento.

Garden Salad
1 No. 2 can peas
1 bunch celery, diced
1 bunch carrots, diced and cooked.

Everyday Cooking Miracles

BY FRANCES WEEDMAN

Director Helms Electric Cooking Institute

Granted that fish hauled in on hubble's own hook and line are endowed with a certain inimitable differentness—that is, if sunburn, patience, and effort have anything to say about it—almost anyone can eat fish, "catcher" and other details unknown, and still like it! Of course, however, the fish must be fresh, it must be scrupulously cleaned, it must be exquisitely cooked before it obtains the successful triumph of a real fish story. Many homemakers used to listen with displeasure to the family's outburst of "We want broiled fish!" Not that broiling fish was difficult or that it took too long, but it always branded the broiler with "fishy" splatters and odors. Then along came the modern electric range—the miracle electric range of 1935—with a whole "show" of magic cooking feats! Among other things, broiling was included on its program in its newest, most accomplished, most breath-taking form.

It is safe to place brown paper under fish when broiling in an electric range

Modern Broiler Pan
For example, just fancy being able to broil fish and other "broilable" foods without having the food leave the telltale, besplattered broiler oven, and smoky, grease-filled broiler pan. Removing stains from this oven is hardly any trouble at all because the hard, smooth enameled walls are easily accessible for quick cleaning. Removing "tracks" from the broiler pan, too, is likewise a simple task. In the first place, stains cannot be charred or easy as it is in the Miracle Broiler, when a better, easier way presents itself? Fish may be placed on brown paper—a "bib," if you please—and broiled in the miracle broiler without giving the fire department one bit of business. The paper catches the drippings while the fish turns brown and crispy, and the steady, unvarying heat of the controlled electric embers isn't even tempted to swallow up a corner of the paper. No smoke, no fish odors, no broiler to soak and scour—only the best broiled fish you ever served will be your culinary reward.

Broiled Fish
This, then, is the electric way to broil fish, be it trout, white fish, halibut steaks or what have you. Cover the smokeless broiler pan with brown paper. Lay fish on the brown paper over the broiler pan, season and spread with melted butter. Heat upper unit of electric oven until cherry red. Place broiler pan with fish upon it under unit and broil about 20 minutes. Serve with sliced lemon.

Baked Apple with Rolled Oats
Pare and core sweet apples. Bake 20 minutes in moderate oven. Cool but not chill. Serve an apple for each portion surrounded by hot oatmeal, with cream and sugar, or if sugar is used when baking apple, it is not required with the porridge.

Oatmeal Cakes with Bacon
2 cups cooked oatmeal
¼ teaspoon poultry seasoning
1 teaspoon grated onion
1 teaspoon minced parsley
¼ teaspoon pepper
Cornmeal or bread crumbs
Bacon
Blend the seasonings with the oatmeal, add a few crumbs of bread if very soft and form into flat round cakes. Roll in cornmeal or bread crumbs and cook in the bacon fat left in the pan after the bacon itself has been cooked, turning the cakes to brown both sides. Serve with a slice of bacon over each cake.

Cocoanut and Cabbage Salad
8 cups shredded cabbage
¾ cup cocoanut
½ cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon salt
Lettuce
Combine ingredients in order given. Toss lightly and serve on lettuce.

Oatmeal with Fried Apple
3 large cooking apples
Cooked rolled oats or oatmeal
Brown sugar
Thin cream
Core and slice, but do not peel the apples and cook slowly until tender in a little butter or other shortening, sprinkling with brown sugar during the cooking—this will melt and form a caramel. Transfer to a serving dish and pile well cooked oatmeal or rolled oats on the slices of apple, pouring light cream and a little additional sugar over.

T-Bone Steak Cooked In Wine—Um-m!

Chef Gesell, Hotel New Yorker has delicious recipe.

ANYONE who enjoys a T-bone steak will welcome the recipe listed below, a favorite of Jacques Gesell, famous chef at the Hotel New Yorker in New York City.

Gesell, who was born in France, is a master not only in the art of preparing French and American dishes but also Italian, English, German and Russian as well. His apprenticeship was spent working under famous chefs in Lunerville, Paris, Rheims, Brussels and Antwerp.

Housewives who wish to surprise their families with a T-bone steak which will invite exclamations of praise and delight will do well to copy Chef Gesell's recipe, shown below. Addition of domestic wine is one of the principal reasons for the delicious flavor of the steak, says Gesell.

T-BONE STEAK BORDELAISE
2 lb. T-bone steak
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons chopped shallots
1 cup domestic red wine
Salt and pepper to taste
Sauté the steak until well browned on both sides. Season with salt and pepper. Add the butter and shallots. Allow to cook for 3 minutes. Add the wine and cook for 3 more minutes. Serve the remaining juice as a sauce over the steak.

Ideal Children
The boy most popular among his mates is he who is most cheerful and exuberant, the leader in games and sports, and unafraid of adults, according to research of a scientist. The popular girl, on the other hand, is the one who is neat, pretty and not necessarily a leader. The "ideal" girl must conform to adult standards.

My Favorite Recipes

Frances Lee Barton says:

A FEW summers ago I discovered that our family was consuming entirely too many iced drinks for its own good; so I worked out this really delicious chocolate syrup that can be added to milk. (Or poured over ice cream.) I usually make two or three batches a week and keep it covered in the refrigerator ready for use. Of course, the boys love it (I discovered where whole pints of it disappeared after a few scout rallies at our house).

Chocolate Syrup
4 or 5 squares unsweetened chocolate; 1 cup sugar; 2/3 cup hot water; 2 egg yolks, slightly beaten. Melt chocolate over hot water; cool to lukewarm. Add sugar to water, stirring until sugar is dissolved; cool to lukewarm. Add syrup to egg yolks, about one-fourth at a time, beating well after each addition; add chocolate in the same way. Then continue beating mixture 1 minute, or until slightly thickened. Turn into jar, cover tightly, and place in refrigerator. Syrup can be kept for several days. Use 2 tablespoons chocolate syrup for 1 cup milk. Makes 2 cups syrup.

DROP "3 R" SYSTEM IN INDIAN SCHOOLS

New Deal in Education Is Based on Real Needs.

Tucson, Ariz.—The "Little Red Schoolhouse," in its strictest sense, is on the way out among northeastern Arizona's Indians.

A "new deal" program calls for abandonment of strict schooling, compulsory attendance and outlined curricula. In place of the "three R's" the Indians will be taught subjects of more practical application to their mode of living, such as soil erosion, sewing, weaving, fertilization, sheep dipping and shearing, feeding live stock and kindred subjects.

News of the government's change of policy was brought here by Dr. John H. Provinse, assistant professor of archeology at University of Arizona, who spent six weeks recently in "the land nobody wants."

Retain Culture.

"Probably the only tribes in either New Mexico or Arizona that have retained their culture," Doctor Provinse said, "are the Pueblo Indians, with the Hopi tribe as the most outstanding."

"The Hopi never have had lands anyone wanted, so they have been able to keep a high integration among themselves. Some of the New Mexico Pueblo people have become completely Mexicanized, but the sad part of this is the Mexicans after whom they have patterned and into whose social scheme they have fitted themselves are of the peon class. The Indians' own culture was of a far higher standard."

"The government's program of education under the New Deal is, however, a sensible and direct approach to changing the whole Indian life pattern. Books have been dispensed with temporarily, as will the boarding schools as time goes on."

"The system is to erect the school, probably with Indian labor, put in the benches and desks, but leave the actual arrangement to the students. Then the subjects to be taught will be given by demonstration methods closely akin to their own way of doing things by actual participation rather than learning about it from books."

Practical Subjects.

"They will be taught soil erosion, sewing, weaving, protection of moisture in the soil, fertilization, sheep dipping and shearing, feeding of live stock and every other subject that is in direct relation to their tribal lives."

"There will be no compulsory attendance and there will be no age limits. Old and young may go and there will be no grades, only groups. Divisions into groups will be by interests."

The "new deal" plan of teaching to Indians, many educators here believed, will permit the tribes to remain to a large extent their native culture and traditions, while, at the same time, instructing them in modern methods of doing the things they have done for countless centuries.

At the same time, gradually, the Indians may be moulded into the modern American pattern of life, but not with the loss of their own distinctive culture, it is believed.

The new type of schools, according to Doctor Provinse, will be scattered about Indian reservations and will be headed by students in ethnology who have a definite flair for instructing aborigines.

Menu for a Walrus Is Flashed to Wild Arctic

New York.—Capt. Bob Bartlett in the Arctic paging Doctor Daeol!

Or so it seemed at amateur radio station W2GON, operated by J. E. Preston at North Arlington, N. J.

A message from Bartlett aboard his explorer, the S. S. Morrissey, to Dr. William Field Blair, of the New York zoological park, read:

"Have baby walrus on board which I want to bring to you. Little devil won't drink milk. Can't get him to eat. Can you suggest method of feeding?"

Then the reply:
"Feed baby walrus shredded codfish six times a day. Mash fish and serve in small quantities. Increase until he takes four or five pounds a day."

Capt. B: "Little devil perking up; likes codfish."

Dr. B: "Might vary diet with soft-shelled clams."

Capt. B: "He eats clams, shells and all."

Dr. B: "Take off the shells."

Boy's Stomach, Heart and Liver Are on Wrong Side

Minneapolis.—When four-year-old Ronald Shoults "crosses his heart" he does it on the right side of his chest. Ronald's heart, stomach, liver and spleen are reversed.

Except for the placement of these organs on the right side of his body, Ronald is entirely normal. The condition does not interfere in his play with the children of the neighborhood.

Physicians and surgeons of the University hospital and others have had the boy under repeated observation. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Shoults.

Convicts Turn to Books

Four outstanding County Farm Bureau baseball nine are fighting it out for the state championship, reports the Illinois Agricultural Association.

Henry county will open a three-game series with clay county at Louisville Saturday, September 21, while on the same day Will county and DeKalb go into the second lap of their struggle toward the state title at Manhattan. DeKalb pulled the big surprise of the year by shutting out the 1934 state champs from Will at Sycamore September 14 by a score of 7 to 0. # New! Fur Coat and Woolen Ensemble

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

THIS THRILLING events which are casting their shadows before via an entirely new type of ensemble which works dress and lining of smart woolen in conjunction with coats of handsome fur into the 'nth degree of swank. Watch the excitement when once the college girl glimpses this sort of costume which is entirely new in the field. It's this way, the woollens for fall are absolutely irresistible. Yielding to the lure of the perfectly fascinating new wool weaves and sensing untold possibilities in their use manufacturers of fur coats are playing up the idea of lining their garments with gay plaids and checks or a novelty woolen of some sort or other.

To be explicit, the new costume scheme, which is taking the world of fashion by storm, lines a chic fur coat with the same stunning woolen as makes the dress or skirt, with matching gilet that completes the ensemble. As soon as the first chilly autumn winds blow you will see this type of costume crowding the landscape for daytime wear in town, in country, on campus, in the grandstand or for travel whether you go by train, boat, auto or airplane.

The coats may be hip length, fingertip length or three-quarter or seven-eighths, just so it is always somewhat shorter than the accompanying woolen skirt, so that some fraction of the skirt shows below, thus co-ordinating the ensemble even when the coat is buttoned tight and only a scarf, the collar lining or the gilet top shows above the fur.

The coats of these costumes are versatile, although generally speaking they are fashioned on swapper lines. A dashing figure they cut, when left unfastened to fly out "accidentally on purpose" when in motion so as to artfully show off their smart gay linings.

Furs of most intriguing type are employed so as to dramatize the picture. Favored pelts include snowflake, nutria, sheared panther, gray or beige kidskin and various spectacular spotted furs.

The illustration presents the new wool-and-fur ensemble idea in two versions selected from any number of equally as fascinating models, as worked by high-style designers. For football weather the costume, as pictured to the left, is sure to satisfy the style aspirations of any co-ed sophisticated as ever she may be. This swapper coat of sheared panther is lined with green plaid woolen which is firm of texture yet light in weight. It is identical to that used for the two-piece sports tulleur that completes the ensemble. Blown back by the wind, the charm of the costume is enhanced when the coat lining flashes its note of color. The neckline of the tailored suit jacket of wool weaves is mannish in line with its notched lapels. The sports hat of smart off-face type is of felt in a dark green to harmonize with the wool plaid of the suit.

The girl standing to the right is ready to step into her open car and drive to the football game, serene in the knowledge that she will be comfortable, plus modish, all day and all evening during the drive home, no matter how suddenly the temperature may drop. For this beautifully styled outfit of supple kidskin is worked on dressmaker lines together with a checked rabbit woolen black and maize for the wrap-around skirt and also as it appears in the lining of the wide flaring collar on the Etong jacket top and as it is glimpsed at the wristline of the bell sleeves. Her cap is of kidskin with a sporty pointed visor down over the forehead at the right side.

Bode Bros., Kenosha, Help Hub Furniture Stage Removal Sale

That residents of Kenosha and the surrounding trading area including Antioch, Lake Villa, Wilmet, Salem, Trevor, Hickory, etc., are in a buying mood is being demonstrated this week at a huge disposal sale of furniture and home equipment by the Hub Furniture company at 2221 Sixty-third street in Kenosha.
